STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE SEXUAL HARASSMENT OF WOMEN AT WORKPLACE
(PREVENTION, PROHIBITION AND REDRESSAL) ACT, 2013
(Central Act 14 of 2013)

I. INTRODUCTION:-

1. A safe workplace is a woman's legal right. Indeed, the Constitutional doctrine of fundamental rights of equality and personal liberty is enshrined in Articles 14, 15 and 21 of the Constitution of India. These Articles ensure a person's fundamental rights to equal protection under the law, to live a life, free from discrimination on any ground and to protection of life and personal liberty. The United Nation Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW), was adopted by the United Nation General Assembly in 1979 and ratified by India. Often described as an International Bill of Rights for Women, it calls for the equality of women and men in terms of human rights and fundamental freedoms in the political, economic, social, cultural and civil spheres. It underlines that discrimination and attacks on women's dignity violate the principle of equality of rights.
 2. Sexual harassment constitutes a gross violation of women's right to equality and dignity. It has its roots in patriarchy and its attendant perception that men are superior to women and that some forms of violence against women are acceptable. One of these is workplace sexual harassment, which views various forms of such harassment, as harmless and trivial. Often, it is excused as 'natural' male behaviour or 'harmless flirtation' which women "enjoy". Contrary to these perceptions, it causes serious harm to women and is also a strong manifestation of sex discrimination at the workplace. Not only it is an infringement of the fundamental rights of a woman, it erodes equality and puts the dignity and the physical and psychological well-being of workers at risk. This leads to poor productivity and a negative impact on lives and livelihoods.
 3. The Government of India enacted legislation the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 (Central Act 14 of 2013), herein after referred as the 'POSH Act' in compliance with our international commitments and framed Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Rules, 2013 under the POSH Act. However, nearly a decade, after the enactment of the Act, there continue to exist several queries and doubts with regard to the intent of the POSH Act, procedures to be followed and actions to be taken as per the POSH Act. Hence, to provide clarity, the present Standard Operating Procedures have been formulated by the Government of Tamil Nadu.

II. SCOPE AND PURPOSE:-

4. The purpose of this Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) is to provide clear guidelines for implementation of the POSH Act in Tamil Nadu. While the POSH Act came into force in 2013, confusion remains among stakeholders regarding their roles and responsibilities regarding in implementation of the POSH Act across workplaces in the State. This Standard Operating Procedure aims to eliminate this confusion and streamline the process.
5. This Standard Operating Procedure covers various aspects, including actions to be taken for prevention of sexual harassment, grievance redressal including formation of Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) under section 4 of the POSH Act, receipt of complaints as per section 9 of the POSH Act, Inquiry under section 11 of the Act and relief possible under section 15 of the POSH Act respectfully and statutory filings under the POSH Act.
6. The objective of this Standard Operating Procedure is to ensure all involved parties have an user-friendly tool that clarifies their roles, improves co-ordination and enhances efforts to prevent sexual harassment of women at workplace and provide effective redressal in Tamil Nadu. The Government of Tamil Nadu aims to create a State where every woman is empowered to join the workforce and has the belief and trust that her grievances will be redressed.

III. LEGAL FRAMEWORK INVOLVED

7. There are two aspects involved with regard to the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Rules, 2013 - (i) Prevention and (ii) Redressal.
8. For the first aspect of prevention, the Act has left it to the discretion of every State to take steps for publicising and sensitisation regarding the POSH Act.
9. It may be noted that other laws, particularly the labour laws like the Factories Act, 1948 (Central Act 63 of 1948), the Tamil Nadu Shops and Establishments Act, 1947 (Tamil Nadu Act XXXVI of 1947), the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 (Central Act 04 of 1936), the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 (Central Act 11 of 1948), the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976 (Central Act 25 of 1976) and the new Labour Codes are also instrumental in preventing instances of sexual harassment of women at workplace. Effective implementation of labour laws like the Factories Act and its Rules or the Tamil Nadu Shops and Establishments Act, which have detailed guidelines on conditions in which women workers should be employed, will enable creation of a workspace that is safe for women and thus, help achieve the objective of prevention of sexual harassment at workplace. It is important to note that every law must be interpreted in a manner that ensures prevention of sexual harassment of women at workplace. For example, the Factories Rules requires transportation to be provided to women who work night shift, adequate lighting around the workplace, access to sanitation facilities etc. Providing safe access to this infrastructure will reduce the possibilities of sexual harassment and provide some measure of protection to the women.

10. With regard to the second aspect of Redressal, it may be noted that the redressal of an incident of sexual harassment can be addressed through civil remedies and through criminal remedies. The civil remedy is through the redressal mechanism detailed in the Act. The criminal relief is submitting a complaint under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita and the Tamil Nadu Prohibition of Harassment of Women Act, 1998. (Tamil Nadu Act 44 of 1998). The civil and criminal relief are parallel remedies that the aggrieved woman as defined in section 2(a) of the POSH Act may prefer and both the civil and criminal remedies can be parallelly pursued by her.

IV. STAKEHOLDERS INVOLVED:-

11. There are several stakeholders involved in the prevention and redressal of sexual harassment of women at workplace from both Government, employer and civil society. They are as follows:-

- (i) Employer
- (ii) District Collector
- (iii) Block Development Officer (BDO)
- (iv) Non-Governmental Organizations involved in sensitisation and education about the Prevention of Sexual Harassment Act, 2013 (Central Act 14 of 2013).
- (v) Inspector of Factories
- (vi) Social Welfare Department
- (vii) Labour Department
- (viii) Directorate of Industrial Safety & Health
- (ix) District Judiciary

V. PREVENTION MEASURES TO BE TAKEN

12. The Labour laws like the Factories Act, 1948 (Central Act 62 of 1948), the Tamil Nadu Shops and Establishments Act, 1947 (Tamil Nadu Act XXXVI of 1947), the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 (Central Act 04 of 1936), the Minimum Wages Act, 1948 (Central Act 11 of 1948), the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976 (Central Act 25 of 1976) etc. provide detailed legal frameworks for providing a safe workplace for women. Therefore, effective implementation of those safeguards under labour law will improve the safety of women at workplace.
13. Apart from these statutory requirements, companies may also have their internal Human Resources policies that require creation of a safe workspace for women. Therefore, employers will be required to comply with the same in addition to the safeguards as required under various laws.
14. Every employer has a duty to create a safe working space for women under section 19 of the POSH Act. This includes the following:-
 - (i) Must ensure respect for the dignity of women at the workplace;
 - (ii) Ensure gender-sensitive work conditions (rest breaks, health and hygiene) and transparent, clearly-stated policies (of recruitment, appraisal, promotion, salary increment);
 - (iii) Ensure no hostile work environment towards women at the workplace;
 - (iv) Ensure that service rules treats sexual harassment as a misconduct;
 - (v) Employer must formulate an effective organization-level Policy Statement against Sexual Harassment in alignment with the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Rules, 2013;
 - (vi) Communicate effectively to all employees that they have a right to complain and get redressed against sexual harassment, to whom they should complain, and seek justice through redressal mechanism;
 - (vii) Inquiry must be fair, time-bound and reasonable to both the parties, maintaining impartiality and confidentiality.

15. The employer must provide the following in their Human Resource Policy:-

- (i) Declare that sexual harassment shall not be tolerated or condoned under any circumstances (Zero tolerance policy).
- (ii) The policy must inform the employees what actions/behaviour constitutes sexual harassment and it would amount to misconduct under the service rules attracting punishment in a time-bound manner.
- (iii) The policy must encourage all employees to report sexual harassment as early as possible and inform them about the redressal mechanism.
- (iv) Over and above punishment alone, the policy must emphasize the steps taken to prevent sexual harassment and promote a gender-equal workplace.
- (v) Human Resource policy is effective when it is linked to broader policy to promote gender equality and to improve the position of women in all departments, levels and hierarchies in the workplace
- (vi) Frame the policy by consulting with trade unions or employees representatives/ associations.

16. At this juncture, it is clarified that the Human Resource Policy/ internal policy of a private institution can address sexual harassment of all genders. While the law mandates provisions for prevention of sexual harassment of women, there is no bar in applying these principles to all individuals irrespective of gender.

17. Periodic training.- The employer shall conduct periodic training of existing staff to sensitise and create awareness regarding the zero tolerance policy of the employer.

18. Induction training.- Similarly, the employer shall conduct induction training for new employees where these principles of zero tolerance are explained in great clarity to the new staff as per section 11 of the POSH Act.

V. GRIEVANCE REDRESSAL OF COMPLAINT.-

19. It is important to once again underscore that the aggrieved woman has a right to pursue both criminal and civil remedies (through Local Committee or Internal Complaints Committee) simultaneously. Employers must not prevent the aggrieved woman from approaching the Police, if its her choice.

20. This Standard Operating Procedures will provide the detailed guidelines for addressing a complaint received under the POSH Act, to enable the employer and the State to provide effective redressal. With regard to the criminal complaints, the concerned procedures have been given under criminal law and fall outside the scope of this Standard Operating Procedures.
21. It can be noted that while the methods of prevention may vary industry to industry, once a complaint has been received, the grievance redressal mechanism is uniform for all organisations whether they are factories, shops, educational institutions, Government Departments etc.

VI. SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY OF THE POSH Act for REDRESSAL OF COMPLAINTS:-

22. The redressal provisions of the POSH Act are applicable only to women. Therefore, if persons of other genders are seeking redressal of a grievance of sexual harassment at workplace, they may seek redressal under,-
- (i) company policy/Human Resource Policy, if any or
 - (ii) through other civil/criminal remedies.
 - (iii) A transgender person may seek redressal through the Complaints Officer appointed under section 11 of the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights Act), 2019 (Central Act 40 of 2019).
23. However, it must be noted that while the POSH Act includes minors as defined under section 2(a) of the POSH Act under the definition of an "aggrieved woman", if an allegation that a minor has been sexually harassed is received, then that must be mandatorily reported to the local Police or Special Juvenile Police Unit as per section 19 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (Central Act 32 of 2012) herein after called as "POCSO Act". The failure to report this offence against a minor is an offence under section 21 of the POCSO Act with a punishment of imprisonment upto six months and fine.

VII. WHAT IS A WORKPLACE?-

24. Section 2(o) and section 2(p) of the POSH Act enumerates the places that constitute a workplace under that Act. It is an inclusive definition which means that other places which are similar to those enumerated will also be included within the definition of "workplace".

25. As per the said definitions, the following are included under the POSH Act:-

 - (x) unorganised sector where less than 10 persons work and are engaged in production or sale of goods or providing services of any kind. Ex. domestic worker/house help, agricultural worker, coolie, street vendors etc.

26. Apart from the above list of places defined under the POSH Act, online harassment can also be included under the scope of the POSH Act since the definition is inclusive and not limited to the physical workplaces enumerated in the definition.

VIII. WHO IS AN EMPLOYER?-

27. As per section 2(g) of the POSH Act, an "employer" means -

- (i) With regard to a Government organisation, Department or local authority, the person who heads that organisation as may be specified by an order.
- (ii) In a private organisation, any person who is responsible for control, management and supervision of the workplace.
- (iii) A person contractually obligated with respect to their employees in the Government or private sector.
- (iv) for a domestic worker, the person or household that benefits from the work of the domestic worker.

IX. WHO IS AN EMPLOYEE?

28. An employee has been defined under section 2(f) of the POSH Act as any person -

- (i) regular
- (ii) temporary
- (iii) adhoc or daily wage
- (iv) working indirectly or through an agent, contract worker
- (v) volunteer or others working without remuneration
- (vi) probationer, trainee, apprentice or called by any other name.

X. WHO IS AN AGGRIEVED WOMAN?.-

29. Section 2(a) of the POSH Act, defines the term "aggrieved woman" as follows:-

- (i) in relation to a workplace, a woman, of any age whether employed or not, who alleges to have been subjected to any act of sexual harassment by the respondent.

30. This definition extends protection to women in a range of circumstances, such as:-

- (i) Working Women: Women employed at any workplace whether permanent, contract staff like daily wage workers, contract employees, badli workers, consultants, Nominal Muster Roll workers, Scheme Employees etc.
- (ii) Non-Employees: Women who are not directly employed, like interns, apprentices, trainees, visitors, volunteers, clients, customers, students, research scholars etc.
- (iii) Domestic Workers: Women working in a household setting.
- (iv) Minors: a minor can submit a complaint under POSH Act but the same must be mandatorily reported by the Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee to the local police immediately as per the POCSO Act.

XI. WHAT CONSTITUTE SEXUAL HARASSMENT?,-

31. "Sexual Harassment" as defined under section 2(n) of the Act includes anyone or more of the following unwelcome acts or behaviour (whether directly or by implication), namely:

- (i) Physical contact or advances;
- (ii) A demand or request for sexual favours;
- (iii) Making sexually coloured remarks;
- (iv) Showing pornography;
- (v) Any other unwelcome physical, verbal or non-verbal conduct of a sexual nature
- (vi) Any implied or explicit promise of preferential treatment
- (vii) Any implied or explicit threat of detrimental treatment in her employment
- (viii) Creating an intimidating or offensive or hostile work environment
- (ix) Humiliating treatment likely to affect her health or safety.

- 12
32. Consent is the most important determinant of sexual harassment. Even if a woman had consented to a relationship, friendship, date, dinner, meal, if a woman has indicated either in words or through actions that she is uncomfortable or does not wish to continue to be in that romantic relationship or be friends, the respondent must stop their actions immediately. Any further communication or interactions after the woman has indicated her disinterest or change of mind, is a form of sexual harassment.
 33. It is to be noted that all communications or actions cannot become sexual harassment, it is the context that determines it. An accidental physical contact will not constitute sexual harassment. Routine reviews, performance review, strict deadlines etc cannot be taken as sexual harassment. Similarly, if unacceptable language is used or bias or prejudice is shown that is not sexual in nature, that may be a form of discrimination but will not be sexual harassment. For example, if a manager believes that men are better managers than women and chooses to favour men over women, that is a form of gender discrimination but would not attract the provisions of the POSH Act.

XII. FORMATION OF INTERNAL COMPLAINTS COMMITTEE/LOCAL COMMITTEE.-

34. The POSH Act provides for two kinds of grievance redressal mechanisms: Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) and Local Committee (LC). They are quasi-judicial bodies.

To put it very simply, principles of natural justice means that every party shall be given an opportunity to respond to the statements of the other party.

Step V – Inquiry Report as per section 13 of the POSH Act:-

69. Once the Inquiry has been completed, the Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee shall submit its Inquiry Report. This Report shall be signed by the Presiding Officer of Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee.

Local Committee	District Collector
Internal Complaints Committee	(i) Two copies to Employer – One copy to forwarded to District Social Welfare Officer (DSWO). (ii) Complainant and Respondent, if both are employees.

70. The Inquiry Report shall provide a finding regarding the allegations against the Respondent and the submissions made by the parties and witnesses.
71. While preparing the Inquiry Report, the following steps shall be considered:-
- (i) Prepare a detailed timeline of events based on the documents and the witness statements, if any.
 - (ii) Identify the alleged events of sexual harassment
 - (iii) Whether the Respondent is denying the occurrence of the event or the interpretation of the interaction.
 - (iv) Identify from the documents and statements, what portions support or deny the claims of the aggrieved woman and respondent.
72. The Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee shall note that the standard of evidence required is preponderance of probability, i.e., on a prima facie reading of the complaint and documents available, one can believe that the events took place.

73. The Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee must note that the standards to be applied when determining whether any alleged action will constitute sexual harassment is the "reasonable woman standard". This means that when an incident has occurred, the test for determining whether that conduct was sexual harassment or not is how a reasonable woman would interpret those actions, not what the man intended through that action. For example, A male manager makes repeated remarks to a female executive about how he is so happy she is in his team because she is so pretty to look at and he can keep looking at her for hours and not get tired of seeing her. The Manager may try to justify this conduct by stating that he is merely paying the woman executive a compliment but when the woman executive feels uncomfortable with such statements, such statements will constitute sexual harassment. Therefore, it is the effect that determines sexual harassment and not the intention of the man.
74. The Internal Complaints Committee /Local Committee shall provide for the following details in their report:-
- (i) Date of receipt of complaint
 - (ii) Date of forwarding to the Respondent
 - (iii) Date of receipt of reply from respondent
